

Attention All Interested in Organic Agriculture Organic Certification and Production Workshop

Date: Thursday, February 28, 2008 Time: 7:00 PM

Place: DE State University (Dover), US Washington Building

Directions: Take Rt. 13 to Dover, enter main gate to DSU on Rt. 13 across from the Dover Mall, stop & ask at gate for building location (in the back of campus).

The Delaware Organic Food and Farming Association (DOFFA), in partnership with DE State Univ. and Univ. of DE Cooperative Extension, is presenting a workshop and question & answer session on organic certification and production. Do you have a thousand acres or just one and want more information on organics? Are you simply curious about the USDA Certified Organic Program? This will be a valuable session for you or any one who is interested in transitioning to the organic market. Carmen Pape, a Delaware based inspector who works with USDA accredited Organic Certifiers will be the featured speaker. Extension agents from all three counties as well as local USDA Certified organic producers will be available to answer questions. For more information please contact: Michael Wasylkowski, DSU at 302-857-6438 or Carolyn Berl-Donald, DOFFA at 302-854-9260.

Gordon Johnson, Extension Ag. Agent, UD, Kent County